Louisville, KY, May, 26, 2010 – Todd-Veredus Asset Management LLC, a registered investment advisory firm, announced today that it has made three intrinsic value strategies available to advisors through Adhesion's WealthADV platform. Adhesion will be the 1st UMA platform provider to have access to TVAM's International Intrinsic Value strategy. The Intrinsic Value philosophy has been in place since 1986. These three strategies provide investors with an Intrinsic Value discipline across Large Cap Core, Large Cap Value, and International styles and are available to advisory clients who custody at Schwab Institutional, Fidelity, TD Ameritrade, National Advisors Trust, and Pershing Advisor Solutions.

Curtiss M. Scott, Jr., Co-President and CIO, said, "Our firm is excited to partner with Adhesion on their UMA platform. This new relationship further diversifies the delivery of portfolio management that public funds, endowments, corporations and unions have had access to over the years."

According to Barrett Ayers, Managing Director of Overlay Portfolio Management at Adhesion, "We are excited to offer the Todd-Veredus suite of Intrinsic Value strategies on our Unified Managed Account platform. One of the inherent benefits of a flexible platform like ours is the ability to rapidly respond to client demands for best-of-breed money managers like Todd-Veredus while maintaining a high quality and reasonably priced offering." Added Ayers, "TVAM's unique, value-oriented approach to managing money is particularly timely these days, and we are honored to have them as partners in the rapidly expanding investment advisory market."

TVAM believes their Price to Intrinsic Value philosophy is the most effective calculation to determine the true valuation of a stock. Applying this calculation with experienced management has been a beneficial relationship with TVAM clients.
